

How To: Using the Environmental Interest Locator to Identify Hazardous Waste Sites

This document is designed to be a guide for the first time user of the Environmental Interest Locator online mapping application. Described below are the steps necessary to access information associated with one or many hazardous waste sites located throughout Vermont. It is recommended that this document is printed to allow for simultaneous viewing of the map.

Disclaimers:

- Actual accuracy of sites on this map do not always reflect exact location of the site but are generally estimations based on available data.
- Site names reflect the "given" name at the time of designation and may not reflect the current property or owner name.

If you know the location of the site...

- At the bottom of the page select the town in which your area of interest is located.
- Select the Zoom tool, located in the basic tool bar, and click and drag over your area of interest.
- Once you have zoomed in you can move the map extent by using

If you want to retrieve the site information...

- Select the "Layers" button on the content bar to show a list of available map content layers.
- To make layers visible click the check box. To retrieve site info the layer must be made active by clicking the "i" icon located adjacent to the check box.
- To select a single record click the "i" tool in the Basic Tool Bar.
- In the content window the site attributes will appear. To view any documents associated with the site click on "More Data".
- To select multiple records click the blue toolbox in the Advanced Tool Bar. Then click the select by rectangle tool.

*Multiple layers can be made visible at one time by selecting their check-box.
*If check box is grayed out the map must be zoomed in closer to allow the layer to become visible.

* To operate click and drag over the area of interest.

Link to Document: More data

Or...

If you know the site number ...

- On the right side of the map click the "Feature by Attribute" link in the content window.
- Or, if you have the site number select "Hazardous Waste Site" in the Layer Name field and enter your site number in the Attribute Value field.
- Click the "Submit" Button.

Layer Name: Hazardous Waste Site

Attribute Value: 770008

*No hyphens accepted.
Example: 1995-3369 entered as 19953369