

Fisheries and Wildlife Divisions 241-3700/Fax 241-3295
103 South Main Street, 10 South, Waterbury VT 05671-0501

Teams of biologists, in conjunction with Waterbury staff, manage the state's fisheries and wildlife resources.

Fisheries Division: The Fisheries Division is responsible for the conservation and management of all fish and fish habitats throughout Vermont. The Division is responsible for providing public access to state waters, and maintains over 180 developed Fishing Access Areas and miles of streambank access. Fisheries Biologists are engaged in a wide variety of activities, including: monitoring populations of sport fish species and their habitats; cooperating in the management and restoration of fish communities in the Lake Champlain and Connecticut River Basins; rearing and stocking sport fish annually for recreational and restoration purposes; evaluating and preparing new fishing regulation recommendations for lake trout, brook trout, perch, northern pike, walleye, bass, and other species; participating in the protection of critical aquatic habitat through regulatory processes such as Act 250; and preparing educational materials.

Director of Fisheries, Eric Palmer -- 241-3476 or 751-0107

Wildlife Division: The Wildlife Division is responsible for the conservation and management of all wildlife, plants, and their habitat throughout Vermont. Division staff is needed in a variety of activities such as: monitoring natural communities and populations of rare, threatened and endangered plant and animal species; preparing harvest recommendations for wildlife species with open hunting or trapping seasons; participating in the protection of critical wildlife habitat through regulatory processes such as Act 250; land acquisition and management of 131,000 acres in the Department's 82 wildlife management areas, monitoring wildlife diseases and the importation of wildlife into Vermont and outreach to wildlife observers, landowners, hunters, school children, and natural resources professionals regarding wildlife and wildlife habitat in Vermont.
